

BAPTIST WOMEN IN MINISTRY

Baptist Women in Ministry holds firm to our mission to advocate for the full affirmation of women in ministry and leadership in Baptist life. We are speaking out to those who are living the weight of the Southern Baptist Convention's proposed Truth and Unity Amendment — not to change the outcome.

We believe theology matters, and that theology which diminishes the calling of women causes real harm to real people. We know that many women in SBC life love their churches, their communities and their Lord deeply. They are navigating what the passage of this amendment would mean for them.

We want those women to hear this plainly: you are equally valued. Your call is not diminished by any decision by any denomination. Your gifts are needed.

Baptist Women in Ministry exists to support women who pursue ministry and leadership in Baptist life with resources, with community and with advocacy. We hold fast to a vision of Baptist life where women thrive as ministers and leaders, not despite our Baptist heritage, but because of it. The priesthood of all believers has always meant all.

For the women in our broader community who remain connected to the SBC: we see you. We are for you and we are not going anywhere.

You do not have to navigate this alone. Find resources cultivated just for you on our website at bwim.info. To speak directly with a member of the team for one-on-one support, email us at admin@bwim.info.
