

Engage in Social Media Advocacy

Social media is an incredibly powerful platform for advocacy due to its broad reach and ability to engage people in real-time. By sharing posts and graphics that affirm women in ministry, you can influence public opinion, raise awareness, and galvanize support for the cause. Social media allows us to connect with a global audience, providing an avenue to share stories, encourage others, and challenge harmful narratives.

Engaging in social media advocacy amplifies our message, making it more likely to reach those who need to hear it. By consistently sharing positive content, we can create a counter-narrative to the exclusionary messages being propagated by other groups. Social media advocacy helps build a virtual community of supporters who can provide mutual encouragement and resources. It also serves to educate those who might be unaware of the challenges faced by women in ministry, potentially converting them into allies.

Find these and other social media posts your can share on Facebook, Instagram, and Threads @baptistwomen.